FOR BUFFALO.

Screw steamers, with good accommodations for passengers, leave the different transportation docks every day for Buffalo.

FOR PORT WASHINGTON, &C.

The Steamer Gazelle leaves Johnson & Olmsted's Dock at 5 o'clock in the morning, for Port Washington, Sheboygan, Manitowoc and Two Rivers.

FOR CHICAGO, &C.

The steamer Traveller leaves Johnson & Olmsted's Dock every evening, at 9 o'clock, for Chicago and Intermediate ports.

The News in Brief.

A fire at Oswego yesterday morning destroyed the grain elevator of FREDERICK S. CARRINGTON, containing 150,000 bushels of wheat and corn; loss estimated at $150,000.

Political excitement is said to be at the highest pitch in California, and Senators BRODERICK and GWINN, if the telegraph is right, are talking of each other in no friendly terms.

The weather, yesterday, as for several days previous, was oppressively hot, but towards evening it became a little cloudy, and as we go to press, the air feels very much as if there was a storm brewing. We hardly remember a more protracted drouth than the present one, and it appears to have extended over a large portion of the country. A few days' good refreshing rain just now, would certainly be one of the greatest blessings that could be vouchsafed to our people.

Who is Responsible?

As a great deal of public inconvenience and expense are likely to result from the blunder of publishing the act of the Legislature creating our Municipal Court amongst the "private and local acts," instead of the general laws, it is proper to know who is to blame for this blundering. Section 25 of chapter VI of the Revised Statutes, explicitly defines the manner in which the laws passed at each session of the Legislature should be classified for publication, and whose duty it is to see that they are so published: "The laws passed at each session of the Legislature shall be divided by the Secretary of State and Attorney General, into two classes, which shall be published and bound in separate volumes. The first class shall include the laws of a general nature, joint resolutions and memorials; but no law incorporating a Rail Road, plank road, or other Company, shall be published therewith, unless such law especially requires that it be so published. The second class shall include all laws required to be published which are not embraced in, and published with, the laws composing the first class. The title pages of the respective volumes shall express whether they contain the 'acts of a general nature,' or 'the private and local acts, and charters of incorporate companies.'"

Section 27 of the same chapter makes it the "duty of the Secretary of State to furnish the State printer, within twenty days after the adjournment of each session of the Legislature, with a copy of all the laws, joint resolutions and memorials passed at such session, classified and arranged for publication as directed in section 25 of this chapter," &c. It will therefore be seen that the responsibility of classifying and publishing the laws of the State devolves wholly upon the Secretary of State and Attorney General, and it is to their ignorance or carelessness of their duty that the present troubles are attributable, not to any error of the Legislature.

Had these officers been Republicans, we hazard nothing in saying the News, which has not a word to say about the matter, would have improved the occasion to exhibit to the people the pernicious effects of "Black Republican bungling."

Groundless Alarm.

Some of our citizens appear alarmed, unnecessarily we think, lest the recent decision of the Supreme Court in regard to the publication of enactments of the Legislature, if rightly interpreted by Judge SMITH, should operate to annul the acts establishing our City Government and the old Police Court. From conversation with gentlemen of eminent legal ability, we are fully convinced that there is no occasion for alarm on this score. The City Government, of which the Police Court forms a part, has no power beyond the corporate limits of the city, and hence is strictly local in its nature. There was not, therefore, any necessity for the publication of the acts creating the City Government and the Police Court as general enactments. Not so with the Municipal Court however. It possessed the full jurisdiction of a Circuit Court under the general laws in all criminal cases except such as were punishable by death or imprisonment for life, and had power to send its process to any portion of the State, or commit offenders to the State Prison for any ordinary period, according to its own discretion. An act of the Legislature creating a tribunal with such powers, could not, as Judge SMITH has clearly shown, very appropriately come under the head of local laws.

We understand that District Attorney CORSON and City Attorney PALMER left for Madison yesterday afternoon, with the intention of taking an appeal from the decision of Judge SMITH, pronouncing the Municipal Court unconstitutional—to test the question—and of bringing the subject to the immediate attention of the Supreme Court.

ANOTHER YANKEE INVENTION.—The London Times notices an invention exhibited to the Lords of the Admiralty, by Mr. W. H. WARD, of Auburn, N. Y., which is for transmitting messages, and carrying on correspondence of any length from ship to ship, becalmed, or sailing within telescope sight of each other on the ocean, with equal facility to that of electric telegraph on land. It was pronounced a very important instrument and well calculated to prove of immense benefit to the entire naval and merchant service afloat.

ANDREW JACKSON DAVIS, we are told, is now engaged in writing the fifth book of the "Great Harmonia," by spiritual influence.—The Spiritual Telegraph, one of Davis' organs, says:

"In a few weeks will be evolved through him a book of several hundred pages, containing most startling intelligence, philosophy, and prophecies, with references and quotations from books he has never seen nor heard of, giving chapter and page."

"Evolved through him?" is good; but the amount of "intelligence" to be brought forth by Mr. Davis, it is not probable will be bulky enough to startle anybody.

LA CROSSE & MILWAUKEE R. R. CO.

Mr. Cleveland's Reply to Mr. McGregor.

To JOHN P. MCGREGOR—Dear Sir:—As I have never practiced in the "High Court of Hernia," with whose forms of proceeding you seem to be so familiar, I shall not attempt to meet you there; and the very dignified strain in which you avail yourself of the "prestige of that Court," to shelter yourself from the scorching power of plain facts, may advance you in your profession.

I am perfectly willing, Sir, to refer my letter and your reply to the Stock-holders of the Company. By looking at my letter you will see that I only said it had been reported that you had the $20,000 Bonds in the hands of a third party, and asked you, and now again ask you, if you had. It is a specimen of manliness doubtless acquired by you during your practice in the aforesaid "High Court," to turn this question into a pointed charge; and then, by decrying it, present it as a point of veracity between us.

The charges made against you, you have not attempted to deny—you throw yourself upon your character, and do not answer why it was that you remained silent till after the third mortgage sale, and what good you expected would result from your appeal to the stockholders after the sale was completed.—You should remember that this defence of former good character is only a defence to the criminal in doubtful cases—and you, sir, who are a lawyer, by availing yourself of this plea, confess your conduct needs a criminal's excuse.

Now, sir, if you can control your rhetoric, answer manly why you have taken the course of conduct in my letter mentioned. The Stockholders would as leave be swindled by an avowed felon, as by a man of reputed good character—the effect is the same.

Yours, &c.,
NEWCOMB CLEVELAND.

NEWHALL HOUSE, Aug. 17, '59.

Letter from Mr. Noonan.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 17, 1859.

To the Editor of the Sentinel:—In your paper of this morning, I see I am accused by Mr. JOHN P. MCGREGOR, of the authorship of a recent letter of Mr. NEWCOMB CLEVELAND, in which Mr. CLEVELAND deals somewhat roughly with Mr. MCGREGOR's recent course as a Director in the La Crosse Railroad, and notices, put up rather harshly, a late stupid public letter of Mr. MCGREGOR, in which he gave an account of his stewardship; the object of which seemed to be, on the part of Mr. MCGREGOR, to submit a kind of dying confession that he had been for one year a member of the Board of Directors of the La Crosse Railroad for but little other purpose than to be most essentially fooled by the Eastern Conspirators and operators, who controlled him and the Board. If all the other statements of Mr. MCGREGOR in reply to Mr. CLEVELAND, are as unfortunate as his assertions in regard to myself, he is in a very bad way to see company; for I can assure him, and all his anxious friends, that I had no more to do with drafting Mr. CLEVELAND'S letter, than I had in dictating the doughhead effusion to which Mr. CLEVELAND'S letter was a response.

For two weeks I have been most of the time confined to my house by severe indisposition, which has prevented me from paying such attention as was due to my own business affairs; much less have I been enabled to interest myself in the affairs of others.

It is not to be disguised that a crisis is pending in this State, and that movements are going on that may require the most serious attention on the part of honest Stockholders in Railroad Companies, and Tax-Payers in the cities, towns and counties, that have loaned those Companies their credit; and it is not improbable that when I recover sufficient strength, and have leisure, I may submit some views upon the subject for their attention.

Mr. JOHN P. MCGREGOR, and you, Mr. Editor, who endorse his letter, will, I think, readily admit that the people and tax-payers of this State have been most terribly swindled by railroad financiers. Our Legislative proceedings and our public records attest that our legislators, our judicial officers, and our public men, have been corrupted to an extent that is alike disgraceful and disastrous. It is a question for the people to settle whether the swindlers, the corruptors, and the corrupted, shall pass along unwhipt of that justice which the law metes out to a lesser grade of rascals, and whether the large amount of means entrusted to their guardianship and control, are to be considered an entire loss or not. In case of a controversy between the abused Stockholders and Tax-Payers, with the Railroad plunderers, would not the efforts and wishes of Mr. JOHN P. MCGREGOR be with the plunderers? I am free to say that from my knowledge of his movements for the past few months, I think they would. Yours Respectfully,

J. A. NOONAN.

Chicago Produce Trade.

The receipts of flour and grain during the past week were as follows:—6,112 bbls flour; 145,496 bus wheat; 122,262 bus corn; 22,455 bus oats; 4,237 bus rye; 1,813 bus barley.

The shipments during the past week were:—6,228 bbls flour; 84,568 bus wheat; 188,588 bus corn; 19,259 bus oats; 1,960 bus rye; 218 bus barley.

The receipts and shipments of flour and grain since the 1st of January compare with 1858 as follows:

	RECEIPTS.		SHIPMENTS.
	1859.	1858.	1859.	1858.

There has been an increased activity in the wheat market during the past week, especially as regards spring, which has been in active shipping demand—with an advance of 8@9c on No. 1 and No. 2 spring, with close at 74@76c for the former, and 67@69c for the latter in store. Winter wheat, has been less brisk, and the market has declined 4@5c—except on No. 2 red, which has been in fair demand at full rates of last week. The closing prices for winter are: No. 1 white $1 00@1 01; No. 2 white, 80c; No. 1 red, 86@86½; No. 2 red 81@83c. The quality of the new spring wheat continues to keep up to the first samples received, and from notices which we have copied from New York papers, we see that it is very highly spoken of in Eastern markets. The flour market during the past week has been dull, and the business almost entirely confined to the city trade.—Press & Tribune of yesterday.

Smith vs. Welch. Argument continued by Smith, Keyes & Gay for appellant, and J. C. Hopkins for respondent, and not completed. Dane Circuit Court.

A GANG OF COUNTERFEITERS.—Yesterday afternoon after the banks had closed, a stranger commenced buying articles of trifling value in several stores in the city, and presented in payment for them counterfeit $5 bills on Canada banks. One of the counterfeit $5 bills was so near like the genuine thing that Mr. Slavin, of the Dane County Bank, was for some time in doubt about it, but finally when two other bills that the passer of the counterfeit money had managed to get rid of were shown, his suspicions were aroused, and he took measures, in company with Mr. Jones and Mr. Treadway, to capture him. The passer of counterfeit bills began to smell something warm, and made an effort to escape, but these gentlemen were too much for him, and succeeded in giving him into the custody of Constable Reese.—He was taken to the Court House and examined, and a number of counterfeit bills on Canada banks and several bills of broken banks were found upon him.

This morning he was brought before Justice Bradley, and gave his name as Otto Neigte. He is a German, and Justice Bradley after examining into his case, held him to bail in the sum of $800, in default of which he was committed to jail.

Last night, a little before 12 o'clock, another man was arrested on suspicion, and several counterfeit bills and bills of broken banks were found upon him. We hear that two more of the gang were arrested to-day.—These will probably be brought before Justice Bradley to-morrow morning. When Sheriff Bishop, Detective Welch and Constable Reese, get on the slightest scent of fraud "it will out."—Madison Patriot, 16th.

SHOCKING SUICIDE BY A BOY.—At Norwalk, Ct., on Friday evening, a young man, 17 years of age, shot himself in a fit of passion! He had been maddened by the just rebukes and expostulations of his father and family, because of improprieties in his conduct. Accordingly he borrowed a pistol, and going to the rear of the house, applied it to his person and fired it, so close that his clothing was set on fire by the explosion. The ball entered his abdomen, passed through his body, and lodged under the skin of his back.

THE Bishop of Troyes commenced a recent circular to his clergy thus: "God has written a magnificent page of history, with the assistance of France!!!" After this fashion, a Frenchman patronizes the Deity whenever he wishes to do some tall writing.

THE CITY.

SENTINEL READING ROOM.

WE have opened in connection with our new Counting Room, 207 East Water st., a Reading Department, where all the leading Daily Papers in the United States and Canada are regularly placed on file, for the benefit of those who may wish to see them. Strangers visiting the city are invited to avail themselves of our "Free Reading Room" at their pleasure.

WELL IT EVER RAIN!—The poor vegetables look up beseechingly to the fiery heavens, and the only response to their prayers is a withering "dry up" from the god of day. The parched earth may be said to have clothed itself in ashes, or at least a more impalpable dust. The streams have been dallying with the hot rays until they have all become dissipated. The farmer will not even attend the Church, and when you speak of the sermon—he only answers dreamily of "the dryness." Citizens are parched and dusty; the sunken lots no longer harbor frogs. A great bed of alluvium intersected with seams, through which issue all manner of pestiferous and noisome odors marks the spot where in former times water was. The washwomen are disconsolate; the farmers famished.

As this article is being "spun," there is a sensation overhead as though water was to take place before long. We can only hope that this will be read by the multitude, with the rush of torrents in their ears and the sound of a shower—by thunder.

MUNICIPAL COURT—HIS HONOR, JUDGE FOOTE, PRESIDING.—WEDNESDAY, Aug. 17.—Matthias Pfister, making threats to kill, &c., ordered to recognize in the sum of $500 to keep the peace, and pay costs taxed at $9 31.

George Spiute, assault and battery; discharged.

Quite a little sensation was occasioned in the Court room yesterday morning, by the refusal of Mr. Von Deutsch to recognize the Municipal Court. He advised his client to leave the room, which was acted upon, despite the orders of the Judge.

His Honor, Judge FOOTE declares that he will exercise the functions of the Municipal Court, until the Supreme Court decides it illegal.

KELLOGG & STRONG, Storage, Forwarding and Commission merchants, have a word to say to the public in our issue this morning. This firm, so long and favorably known to the business community, have completed arrangements for receiving grain in bulk, and for storing all kinds of grain. They make a business announcement of it through our advertising columns. Messrs. KELLOGG & STRONG need only be known to be patronized.

BENEFIT OF MAJOR ROBINSON.—The much talked of benefit of Major ROBINSON takes place this evening at Albany Hall. He will be assisted by WEINBERG, violinist, and by Mr. LUMSDEN, favorably known as a dramatic reader. The Cornet Band, of course, will fill up the interstices with a new selection of music, and the Major will do his best on the fife. Let his friends (who are legion) turn out.

BOY DROWNED.—A little boy named JOHNNY MINER, about 11 years of age, fell into the Menomonee river, near the M. & M. depot yesterday afternoon and was drowned.—He was fishing at the time, and being subject to fits, it is thought he was taken with one when he fell into the river. His body was soon after recovered and taken to the house of his parents on Fourth street close by the Railroad machine shop.

BY REFERENCE to our advertising columns our readers will notice the auction sale of Books and Stationery, at the old stand of C. H. HERMAN, 175 East Water street, has been postponed for one week, by order of the assignee. In the meantime, many are availing themselves of the opportunity to replenish their libraries and lay in a stock of stationery, at prices such as have never been equaled, we believe, in Milwaukee.

CLODIUS, in speaking of the committee appointed to wait upon our citizens to solicit subscription for the reception of the new steamers, thus culminates:

As they call upon our citizens for subscriptions, we trust as generous a spirit will be manifested as can be afforded, and that the occasion may be honored as it deserves, with more than ordinary observance.

FOR THE EAST.—The upper cabin screw steamer Mohawk, Capt. PRENTT, leaves the Western Transportation dock this morning at 10 o'clock for Buffalo and intermediate ports. For passage apply at the Company's office foot of East Water street, GRIFFIN & FLINT, Agents.

WANTED TO EXCHANGE.—J. S. FILLMORE wants to exchange 10 acres of land with fruit trees, house, barns, &c., within one mile of the city limits, in a good location, for a house and lot in the 7th ward, and will pay some cash also.

LATE PAPERS.—Messrs. BAMFORD AND BALDWIN, the enterprising news dealers at the Depot, have our thanks for New York papers of Monday, left on our table yesterday morning, at 7 o'clock, several hours in advance of the mail.

Trees and Gutters Again.

MR. EDITOR:—"Young Citizen" has probably never had any trees killed by water setting back and freezing around them but "Old Citizen" and his neighbor; have "Young Citizen" forgot to say why the crossings were not made with a gradual pitched and paved, which would obviate the difficulty (he mentions) in crossing. "Young Citizen" tacitly admits that the "only decent job" will probably set back the water, but denies that it will "strike in so as to kill the trees."

"Young Citizen" does not deny, that the present gutters will make our sidewalks impassable in much of our winter and spring weather. "Young Citizen" thinks the gutters may be easily taken up when they become a nuisance.—but it strikes "Old Citizen" that works which cost so much should be of such a character as not to merit a tearing up almost as soon as constructed. besides it might not be so easy as "Young Citizen" supposes, to dig up gutters in the winter. We shall probably find out by next Spring, whether "Old Citizen" or "Young Citizen" has the best side of the question. "OLD CITIZEN."

NOTICE.—A special meeting of Queen City Lodge, No. 94, Independent Order of Good Templars, will be held on Friday evening the 19th inst., at 7 1-2 o'clock. All members are particularly requested to attend as important business will be brought before the Lodge.

A. R. BURDICK, W. C. T.

RARE CHANCE FOR BUSINESS.—For sale, a valuable patent right for this State and Iowa, known as Hoit's Patent Self-Supplying Marking and Stencil Brushes. They cannot fail to suit the wants and meet the approval of every business concern. Over 4,500 have been sold in New York city, since March last. Any one desiring to get hold of a good and sure paying business, will find this worthy their attention, as it is really the best thing ever offered in Milwaukee for the money asked. Call and examine its merits at the Walker House, from 9 until 12 A. M. and from 3 until 6 P. M. this day. I will exchange in part for lands if desired.

TELEGRAPH!

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

150,000 Bushels of Grain Burned.

OSWEGO, Aug. 17—3 P. M.

The Ontario grain elevator, owned by F. S. Carrington, was entirely destroyed by fire this morning, with the exception of the engine house. The warehouse contained 150,000 bushels of Chicago spring wheat and corn. The loss is estimated at $150,000, which is insured mostly in New York insurance companies. A Canadian schooner, the Mary, which was lying at the wharf, was also badly damaged by fire.

Later from California.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—3 P. M.

The overland mail of the 25th has arrived. Thirty buildings were destroyed at Grisley Flats on the 23rd; loss unknown.

The political excitement is increasing.—The personalities between Broderick and Gwyn are of the grossest character.

Advices from the Sandwich Islands say the new ten per cent import tariff is not to be enforced until Sept. 1860.

Business was more active; no improvement in prices.

Arrival of the Saxonia.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—3 P. M.

The steamship Saxonia, from Southampton on the 3rp inst., has arrived. Her advices have been anticipated.

Trotting Match.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—3 P. M.

In the two mile trot in harness, between Flora Temple and Princess, for a purse of $1,000, which came off yesterday, the former won two straight heats.

LATEST NEWS!

BY LAST NIGHT'S REPORT

From Porto Cabello.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17—9 P. M.

The barque Thomas Dallett, which sailed from Porto Cabello on the 1st, brings letters and papers of that date, from which we learn that Gen. Falcon, heading the revolutionary party, was a few miles below Porto Cabello, with 600 men, and having joined with the forces of Gen. Guevara, was preparing to make an attack upon the place, which is well barricaded and supported by two hundred Government troops and the national militia.

The two main streets of the city are protected by six pieces of artillery, and in case the revolutionary party should succeed, it will be after some hard fighting. The Government vessels never started out to prevent his landing until he was safe ashore; one of Falcon's vessels was taken, the other was broken to pieces.

Since landing, Falcon has had a free convention with his friends in Porta Bello; a plan for his entrance had been fixed, but the arrest of some of his accomplicies, prevented the treachery from being carried out.

Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—9 P. M.

The Secretary of the Treasury on appeal to him has decided that under the Tariff of 1857, sappers composed of worsted and flax are liable to a duty of 19 per cent.; that drab black, used as paint, are liable to 15 per cent., and caraway seeds are free.

Parties desirous to send articles of small bulk, but of great value, seem to be under the impression that for security they can properly forward them through the mail to the consignment of the Collectors of Customs; this is forbidden, and it is well understood that such consignments are not sanctioned by law, as the officers of the customs are especially prohibited from being engaged in the business of importation.

Should cases occur after this morning, it will become the duty of the Department to adopt such measures as the law may warrant, to put an end to the practice

TO THE FRIENDS AND PATRONS OF LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY.

THE FIRST TERM OF THE PRESENT Collegiate year begins on Wednesday, the 7th September, 1859. To those who enter within the first day and a half, a deduction is made of 25 cents in College, and 25 cents in Seminary, for Incidental charges.

THE UNIVERSITY has in full operation a Seminary, College, Normal School, School of Engineering, and a Ladies' Department.

THE SEMINARY has a course of study planned and graded with care. It embraces a period of two years,—"Senior Preparatory" and "Junior Preparatory."

THE COLLEGE has two regular courses of study the Classical and Scientific—each embracing a period of four years. The Classical is the same as generally as in the older American Colleges. The Scientific is nearly identical with the usual course in the best German Gymnasia. It gives in English Language and Literature a wide and thorough culture; in Latin enough for the understanding of the Latin words found in scientific terms; in French and German enough for reading scientific treatises in those languages.

IN PURE MATHEMATICS the subjects are selected and the time taken to secure a thorough reference to use in Physics, and Industrial Science. No pains will be spared to give the rapid skill and readiness in applying the higher analysis in Mechanics, Physics and Mensuration.

AMONG PRACTICAL MATTERS in this department are Land Surveying, Engineering, Industrial Mechanics, Physics and Industrial Drawing.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL follows the course of study and training laid down in the United States' programme of the Regents of the State Normal School. Full time in this course, three years. Drill in Arithmetic, and in English Language and Literature is meant to be complete and rigorous. Pupils on the full course, receive the same training in pure mathematics and in practical science, with those in the College Scientific course.

THE DEPARTMENT OF ENGINEERING receives those who wish to study nothing but Industrial Science.

THE EXPERIMENTAL SCHOOL is designed to prepare pupils to enter regularly upon the Seminary course or upon the Normal course. It also gives to Normal pupils practice in the art of teaching, in connection with the teachers' class in Normal Department. There are occasional lectures by members of the Faculty.

THE LADIES' DEPARTMENT is, in its internal arrangements, the same as heretofore. The entire last years' Ladies from abroad are under the immediate charge of the Preceptress; and hence are required to board and lodge in the Ladies' Building, to which additional accommodations are now being made.

THE UNIVERSITY is well furnished with Apparatus; has a fine Library; and is making important additions to its Cabinet. Studies have same use of Gymnasia, Library and Apparatus, as gentlemen.

PROVISION is made for those wishing to study Painting and Music in the Ladies' Building, to which additional accommodations are now being made.

THURSDAY MORNING, AUGUST 18, '59.

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the City of Madison, in the Assembly Hall of the Capitol on Wednesday, the 31st day of August next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be supported by the party at the ensuing general election; and to transact any other business that may properly come before it.

As the subject of selecting delegates to the next National Convention may be entertained and acted on by the Convention, it is suggested that the people in their primary caucuses, and the district conventions make such expression as will intimate to their delegates and the State Convention, the general sentiment of the State on that subject.

Each Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

It is recommended that District Conventions for the selection of delegates be held throughout the State, on or before the 25th day of August, and that committees make early calls for that purpose; and it is especially urged that every district be duly represented in the Convention.

Mr. Douglas and his Backers.

The Charleston South Carolina News publishes the following brace of letters from Milledgeville:

MILWAUKEE, (Wis.) July 30, 1859.

The Charleston News declares that if the Charleston Convention hesitates about a Slave Code, and especially if Douglas is in danger of nomination, the Southern delegates will secede and nominate for themselves.

You don't say so! You don't mean it, do you? Why it would make the Northern Democrats feel bad to have their Southern brethren withdraw from the Convention, if Douglas is nominated. We don't believe a word of it. In the first place, we know that the News does not and cannot control the Southern delegates. A great many of the Southern delegates will cast their votes for Stephen A. Douglas, together with the entire delegation from the North. We have the pleasure to inform you, Mr. News, that the "Little Giant" of Illinois, Hon. Stephen A. Douglas, will receive the nomination for President, at the Charleston Convention. The North will be there, en masse. Wisconsin will send a delegation of five hundred of her Democratic sons to accompany the delegates of the State Convention, to be chosen next month. These five hundred are all Douglas Democrats. Minnesota sends a delegation of three hundred Douglas men. Michigan eight hundred, Iowa five hundred, Illinois one thousand, Indiana fifteen hundred, Pennsylvania one thousand, New York one thousand, and nearly all the New England States one thousand each. This is a secret plan; and it is understood that Douglas will have at least twenty thousand friends in Charleston during the Convention, and they don't propose to back one inch from the platform of "Popular Sovereignty," &c., &c. And Mr. News you had better "dry up" about Douglas or you will get "deserted" during the Convention. We are a going to be strong enough to do it, and we aint afraid to tell you so.

More anon. J. W. SANDERS.

"P. S.—I will refer you to Alexander Mitchell, President of the "Wisconsin Marine and Fire Insurance Bank" of this city, and Gen. Rufus King, Editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, for the truth of this letter. J. J. S."

MILWAUKEE, July 27th 1859.

Editor! Evening News—Then, you do really think that it Douglas is in danger of being nominated at Charleston, the "Southern" delegates will secede and nominate for themselves. I am sorry you think so, but still we can't help it. Stephen A. Douglas is bound to be nominated!—your efforts to the contrary notwithstanding. You see we are a "going to" don't amount to a row of pins. We like to see just such journals as the News oppose Douglas. Nothing helps him more. This State (Wisconsin) I am proud to tell you will send at least 5,000, and if necessary 7,000 Douglas men.—Providence permitting, I shall be one of the number. And all ask is to get a sight of you, and I will make "sour jam" of your head in two minutes. Instead of "10,000," we are a "going to" send 50,000.

Yours respectfully,
A DOUGLAS DEMOCRAT.

The Charleston papers seem to think that Mr. DOUGLAS is not fortunate in his Wisconsin friends, and lectures these correspondents soundly, for their insulting talk to Southern men. We think "Mr. J. J. SANDERS," who refers to us for the truth of his letter, is considerably out in his reckoning, when he figures up the number of DOUGLAS men, who intend to go to Charleston, at "twenty thousand."

Wise vs. Douglas.

The South cannot adopt Mr. Douglas' platform. It is a short cut to all the ends of Black Republicanism. He will then kick up his heels. If he does or don't, he can't be nominated, and the main argument against his nomination is that he can't be elected if nominated.—If he runs, an independent candidate; and Seward runs, and I am nominated at Charleston, I can beat them both. Or, if squatter sovereignty is a plank of the platform at Charleston, the Democratic party of the South will run an independent candidate on protection principles, and run the election into the House. Where, then, would Mr. Douglas be? The lowest candidate on the list. HENRY A. WISE.

If Gov. WISE rightly interprets Southern Democracy, Senator DOUGLAS stands no chance of a nomination at Charleston or an election by the People. DOUGLAS, it seems, is distrusted because of his "squatter sovereignty" platform: and the South insists on a candidate who will go for "protection"—i. e. Congressional legislation to introduce and maintain Slavery in the Territories. It is very certain that even with the "South a unit," in support of such a candidate and platform, he could not be elected President.

THE LA CROSSE & MILWAUKEE R. R.—A correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser, who has recently travelled from Milwaukee to La Crosse and St. Paul, thus speaks of the Railroad and the route:

It is very well built, and its accommodations are in every respect first class. We frequently ran at the rate of forty miles an hour, and I have never, after having traveled the same distance, felt so little fatigue. The road passes through the richest farming country I have seen at the West—unlike other belts of wheat, corn, and oats, richer and fuller than ever before known, and much in advance of the crops at the East. Indeed, a great share of the wheat in Wisconsin, as well as Michigan, has already been harvested.

It seems as though this must become the favorite route to the Northwest. It touches the Mississippi within two hundred miles of St. Paul, and nearly one hundred higher up than any other road. Arrived at La Crosse, we found an excellent steamer, with accommodation for a good night's rest, awaiting us. Of the scenery and pleasure of Summer travel upon the Upper Mississippi you have heard, I suppose, as much as you desire; and I shall not attempt to convey the impression which the magnificent country made upon me, or to describe the enjoyment which the mere inhalation of the atmosphere in this region, gives a person accustomed to the drizzling rains and stifling fogs of an Eastern seacoast.

DEMOCRACY IN ALABAMA.—The Huntsville (Ala.) Democrat, edited by J. W. Clay, Esq., brother of the United States Senator Clay, of that State, thus explicitly states the conditions upon which, and upon which only, Alabama will support the nominee of the Charleston Convention:

"No nominee of the Charleston Convention can obtain our support unless the platform adopted shall substantially recognize the Constitutional rights of the South on the slavery question, as laid down by the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott decision, to wit: that Slavery is recognized in the Constitution, and that it is the duty of every department of the Federal Government, Congressional, Judicial and Executive, to guard and protect it; and unless the antecedents of the nominee are such as to justify the belief that he will be a safe custodian of the rights of the South under the Constitution."

FAILURES AT CHICAGO.—The Commercial Bulletin, published at Boston, mentions the failure of JAMES PECK & SONS at Chicago.—The Bulletin says:

This is one of the largest houses in Chicago, and one of the most extensive ship owners on the Lakes; the failure is attributable to the present low prices of grain and their consequent loss on old stock. The same writer says that this failure is but the commencement of what must inevitably follow. The wheat speculations have been disastrous.—The Banks of Western New York are largely involved in these transactions, as the Chicago operators have obtained loans freely.

PUNCH ON THE SITUATION.—The New York Courier and Enquirer thus describes the graphic caricature in the last number of Punch:

The last number of Punch, which has arrived, has an admirable pictorial hit anent the relations of England and France. At the right is a firework factory, filled to repletion, as its bow-windows shows, with rockets and all sorts of fearsome pyrotechnics, while outside is its proprietor, in cap and blouse, posting up his fresh placard announcing Blazes of Triumphs, Roman Candles, Italian Fire.—There is no mistaking the imperial physiognomy. Next door is the Roast Beef House, kept by John Bull. The old fellow himself, with a paunch that tells the whole story of his manner of life, has emerged from his doorway, dudgeon depicted in every line of his countenance. He carries in his hand a bill just sent in—income tax ninepence; and thus opens upon his neighbor: "Here I have got to pay double insurance, all along of your confounded fireworks." The malicious leer of the firework man and the honest rage of the beef-eater make a study, such as could come only from the pencil of a Leech. Viewed as the mere bugbear of our cousin's over-excited imagination, it is all the more comical.

THE WISCONSIN FEMALE COLLEGE.

From our own Correspondent.

"Some things I would rather not say."—DANA.

Being now driven to the support of statements I have made, which are of some consequence to a large portion of the community, by the insults and contradictions of the Fox Lake Gazette, I will first say that this article has necessarily been delayed a few days longer than appears well, in order to secure, for my perfect safety, the positive proof of the assertions I have made and am about to make. For altho' I was satisfied it was correct, I have now "made assurances doubly sure"—fastened my evidence, and clenched the nails.

The Wisconsin Female College might easily be superior to all other schools, for the education of young ladies, in the State. I know pretty much all about it, and its history. Have visited it often, and been acquainted with nearly half its students and teachers. The information concerning it that has been published in the Sentinel at different times, shows the interest I have taken in it.

But since the Board persists in keeping the present unpopular Superintendent in charge, no person who knows the feeling that has existed towards him in the College for the past year or two, can honestly recommend it.—Therefore in my letter from Beaver Dam, was the following allusion to it.

"Only this, and nothing more!"

The "Wisconsin Female College" at Fox Lake, may be called the twin sister of the "Wayland University," here at Beaver Dam. Both are under Baptist management; the former is for young ladies, and the latter for young men. Both are large noble structures, one being of stone and the other of Milwaukee brick, or a good imitation of it. That at Fox Lake being in and on a level with the village, does not add so much to the appearance of the place as the one here does, standing on a moderate elevation right East of the city.

At Fox Lake there have been less students this year than last. Mr. FREEMAN, the President, though a good calculator, and energetic in his management of the College, is not liked by the scholars, and never was. Here at the University, the number of students increases every term, and it is in a fair way to be out of debt soon. The citizens of Beaver Dam have donated and paid $16,000 for it.

Upon this the Fox Lake Gazette pours out a whole column of spleen, using falsehoods for its argument, as I will show; it spits on me, then falls down and foams at the mouth. It accuses me of libel, and wishes the Sentinel to insert its representation of "this two sided question"—thereby admitting there are two sides to it. Had the Sentinel copied its entire tedious article, there would be no need of my making any reply; for no one could then fail to see that Mr. FREEMAN's case was desperate, from the application of that powerful maxim, "The greater the truth, the greater the libel."

It denies that the attendance at the College is on the decline, and "refers the Sentinel Editors to the catalogue of the College, lately published." I have furnished them with that, and with the catalogue for the previous year. They show the number of students last year was 135, and this year 105. And that is a specimen of the deficiency of the Gazette's contradictions, when followed up. The number of pupils boarding at the College, has fallen off, till during the last term there were only eight. They are the ones who are annoyed most by Mr. FREEMAN.

The Gazette's public show of meudacity and blunders, with its mess of boyish twaddle about my personal appearance, &c., is all rounded off with the brazen-faced lie that "Mr. FREEMAN is liked by the pupils, and always was"! It pompously "challenges" me to prove the contrary, thinking it can not be done without involving the publication of ladies' names, which is not to be resorted to in a newspaper controversy. But I shall send to the Sentinel publishers, for a private purpose, a large number of ladies signatures, to the effect that "MR. FREEMAN IS NOT LIKED BY THE PUPILS AND NEVER WAS." If it will do that man's eyes good to see the list, he can have access to it by a simple course of law, I suppose; by that time I think the names will reach a majority; they were given with the understanding, of course, that they should not be shown to others than the Sentinel publishers, except on compulsion.

Mr. FREEMAN now stands charged with having behaved indecently and outrageously to young ladies who have boarded at the College as students, in manner as follows.

A small pan of lard was once stolen from the kitchen—probably by a wood sawyer.—Mr. FREEMAN went alone to the young ladies chambers, and ordered them to open their trunks, that he might see if they had concealed it! A pan of lard! Half starved as they were, a little raw lard to divide around would have been a treat—or so he thought. Their indignation at the insult was of no avail; they were compelled to submit: and so the shameless fellow ransacked the girls' trunks.

His friends will try to whitewash this affair, I am told, by giving out that the ladies incited him to examine their chambers, when they heard that the lard was missing. But they cannot find one but that will say it is false, and that she thought it an outrage.

He also takes it upon himself to direct what ladies shall room together, and what rooms they shall occupy; which office, as well as searching their trunks, should devolve upon the Principal, who is a lady.

He is in the habit of charging the pupils with two or three shillings more, in their bills, than is due, and then apologizing to those who see the 'mistake,' and correcting it.

It having been reported that the graduating class would, after a few days, recite to him, instead of to the Principal, a delegation of that class waited upon that lady, to know if such was the case, in which event they had determined to leave the College.

These are only a few of the "Some things I would rather not say." I could go much further, with the material I have to support me, but the above instances will suffice.

As Mr. F. employs whom he pleases to do the College printing, the object of the Fox Lake Gazette in attempting to lie him through, is too apparent. The editor devotes his leader, a whole column, to the subject of "NYM CRINKLE," and not feeling equal to the task, he calls in a lawyer to handle it—something like another editor, who, eager to spread himself on a poem, tried to steal a priest's thunder. It is noticeable that these two half-brained journalists, have been my chief assailants.

"The little dogs and all," &c.

I was in Fox Lake again, a few days ago, and was told by a dozen reliable men, that the lawyer who has thus undertaken the defense, in the issue he styles "Nym Crinkle vs. the Wisconsin Female College," is one GEO. W. BURCHARD. If he is the one who supplies what little brains are required to set forth Mr. FITCH's ideas, he would much better return to his legitimate calling, for the Editorial Profession is not his element. His understanding of the duties of a newspaper correspondent, is simply ridiculous. He says, "even if Mr. FREEMAN is disliked by the pupils, its publication was uncalled for, and as we view it, unprofessional." But I think those parents who, contemplating sending their daughters to this school, are led by my statements to make inquiries of those who have attended it, will thank me.

This lawyer furthermore displays his ignorance of the first principles of editorial decency, by dragging in the private name of a newspaper man, who had set up a target name for such blackguards to fire away at.

I regret the necessity of exposing disgraceful conduct in the Superintendent of an Institution like this. Yet when a clergyman, a lawyer, and an editor put their heads together to blackguard and lie a man down, he is very apt to take the position I have, when he has everything at his fingers' ends to show for it.

Most likely the Gazette will again make some spasmodic struggles in Mr. F.'s behalf. But it should know that flat contradictions will not clear him. Nor in the absence of proof, will any filthy slang, vomited upon me by a half-fledged pettifogger, make its denials any more palatable to the people.

The Sentinel columns are open to him, I suppose. I am not desirous of having the last word. Let them disprove the accusations made against Mr. FREEMAN; that is the matter the Sentinel readers would like to have cleared up; not whether "Nym Crinkle is a pitiful buffoon," or not; nor whether "his geniality is like the Parrot's—pretty Polly."

The Gazette "hints to the Sentinel that its correspondent has made a private family misunderstanding, the occasion of a newspaper comment." If it refers to the fact that I have relations and friends who have boarded in the College building as students, and have been treated as shabbily by Mr. FREEMAN as many others have, the Sentinel does not need its "hints." I refer the reader to "The head and front of my offending" to judge how far I carried personal feelings into my remarks.

I gave him his due by saying "He is a good calculator, and energetic in the management of the College." This last is not one of the "Things I would rather not say." I wish I knew of more—things I would just as lief say as not. NYM CRINKLE.

OAK GROVE, WIS., Aug. 15, '59.

Matters at St. Louis.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

ST. LOUIS, MO., August 15th, 1859.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The great gap of time between our letter written on the Mississippi, and this one has been kept open in consequence of losing the healthy air and congenial sun of health-giving Wisconsin, and being forced to breath the deadly malaria of this unhealthy neighborhood. We do not judge of the unhealthfulness of St. Louis and its neighborhood by our own case, but since being here we have been more familiar with sickness and sick people than ever before, and it has appeared to us as if all the world were a hospital. When in Wisconsin, no fevers and ague, or complained that they felt one hundred years old, and for want of appetite, had scarcely eaten anything for a month, and in consequence we regarded the world as one vast Eden, where all were contented, healthy and hearty. "Look upon this picture and then upon that."

Opposite from St. Louis is Madison Co., Ill.; the fever and ague and its concomitant diseases take still more libertby, in consequence of the ground being much lower than St. Louis, and allowing the Mississippi every 4 or 6 years to entirely submerge it for miles beyond the natural course of the river. It is styled the "American Bottom;" the soil is remarkably rich, and this year will produce a very large crop of corn—which, with potatoes, watermelons, and some oats, seem to be the staples. There are some fine apple trees which have yielded a goodly quantity of apples, but I am told the crop is not so good as usual. Peach trees are not so abundant as apple trees, and the peaches are most woefully scarce—the blossoms having been almost entirely killed by the late spring frost, which you in Wisconsin cannot forget did so much damage to young corn, &c. In this portion of Madison Co., Ill., of which I speak, but little spring wheat is raised, and, I am told, no winter wheat is ever sown.

While crossing the river on one of our visits to the farming country mentioned, we own we were much surprised that the officers of the boat should be compelled to issue such a notice as we give below, and with deep commiseration we thought how sweet the business must be when obstinate individuals insist on the officers making change. The following is the notice inscribed upon the side of the cabin, in prominent characters, and undoubtedly executed by the help of some budding genius and black paint: "No Bills Changed for foot passengers;" under which a wag has written, "Do you take Carbunkeles?" Probably our artist and wag attended the same school.

The business of St. Louis, of all kinds, is immense. The present number of new buildings erected, and the tearing down of old ones to rear costly piles where once stood an insignificant two-story house, is quite extensive. And not only the trash but goodly mansions, which would yet stand a life-time' meet the same fate.

Great activity seems to prevail everywhere: among the merchants, mechanics, professional men, thieves, bullies, &c.

Bruisers and other bullies seem to have things all to themselves now-a-days. You can scarcely pass a street-corner where a bill can be posted, without noticing a large placard announcing a "grand sparring exhibition," coupled with the resplendent galaxy of names which are expected to participate. At these exhibitions, which occur every week, the bruisers and their ilk meet, and in my opinion it is from these hot-beds of crime and corruption the disgraceful prize fights "bud and blossom," until they mature into such disgraceful affairs as the one which took place on Tuesday, the 9th inst., on an island in the river, some six or ten miles above Alton, Ill., and at which pistols were freely used, and the drowning of men scientifically practiced.

In the absence of respectable amusements a great number of "small fry" institutions have arisen, and every night discourse horrid music (?) and tell over old negro yarns at ten cents admittance, and, as per pos er, refreshments are "thrown in,"—but I do not whether that is practiced before they get another dime, as I am told they make their money principally by the liquors sold, for which they charge double. One of these establishments circulates programmes, with the announcement that "ten lady waiters are nightly in attendance." It is becoming general for lager beer saloons, and these "temples of the muses," to employ "scarlet women" to wait upon their customers, and it is one of the worst ways to corrupt public morals that can be invented. For young men who like their beer must come in frequent contact with them willing or not. These women flaunt their colors so unblushingly, that it is impossible not to understand what they are, and from what I have already seen there appears to be a vast quantity of them.

There seems to be a great horse railroad excitement here, and two or three are in the course of construction.

At the last election held in St. Louis a most excellent law,—most woefully needed,—prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors on the Sabbath, was passed. It is doubtful whether it will be enforced.

Last week we were entertained by observing parading a Lodge of the Order of Masons —all negroes. They were headed by a band of music, and made a good appearance. We conversed with some gentlemen who are Masons and they informed us that this Lodge is not recognized by the Grand Lodge of Missouri.

Yours,
REGLET CHASE.

THE NEEDLE-PRIMED RIFLE.—This is the most celebrated weapon in the Prussian service, and has some peculiarities in its construction and action which have classed it among the most notable of firearm inventions. The account before us says:

The principle of this gun is, in the first place, that it is loaded at the breech, and the charge then ignited by a needle or pin forced forward by a spring through the powder till it strikes against a patch of detonating powder affixed to the rear of the ball. By thus exploding the gunpowder in front the whole of it is ignited, and no particles are forced forward in an unconsumed state or left to foul the gun. Military men differ as to the merits of this rifle. It is asserted that it is very complicated, liable to get out of order, and exposed to frequent and disastrous accidents from the percussion powder being packed close to the charge, while breech-loading is a mistake in a military point of view. The advantages of rapidity of fire, and of dispensing with the ramrod, however, are so obvious as not to be doubted, while the recent improvements which have been effected in this class of arms are now so great that they are believed in all respects quite equal in efficiency to any muzzle-loaded guns now in use.

Gov. Wise's Explanation.

RICHMOND, VA., Aug. 8, 1859.

To the Editors of the Enquirer:

GENTLEMEN:—In your editorial this morning I notice what purports to be a letter written by me to some unknown correspondent, published in the New York papers, by whom or how does not appear. You say that you have "no authority to speak" about the matter. I now give you authority to speak all that I know about it. The impression is attempted to be made that I have offensively obtruded my advice and interference into New York politics, in a vain and immoral attempt upon the members of the State Committee to influence the appointment of delegates from that State to the Charleston Convention.

Now, the plain statement of the whole case is, that for some considerable time past, I had held private and confidential correspondence with Mr. B. Donnelly, No. 3 William street, New York. He wrote me last Spring: I replied; and the correspondence ceased until the 8th of July last, when he wrote to me again the following letter:

"SARATOGA, July 8, 1859.

"MY DEAR GOVERNOR—You will remember my writing you last Spring, to which I received an answer, and which I would have acknowledged at an earlier day, but supposed your time would be taken up with other more important matters, that I concluded to withhold writing to you until the present.—You will learn from the newspapers and elsewhere that those who are in expectation of receiving the nomination at Charleston are marshalling their forces as strongly as possible.

"This State, which I have watched very closely, with a view of acquainting you of what is going on, will, as matters now stand, send to Charleston a united delegation in favor of Douglas. Their second choice would be you. I give you this information as fact, so that you may rely upon it. It is barely possible that Wood and others in New York city, may succeed in getting up two sets of Delegates to the Convention, but it is my opinion your friends in the South need not expect much support from the Northern States. The South is the only place to count on with any degree of certainty, and if the South should kick up her heels, and refuse to adopt you as her candidate, she will lose all. This you may rely upon. With any other man from the Southern States than yourself, we would be beaten out of sight.—With the South, then, to back you, there will be a sufficient number of candidates for Congress and Governor (in nomination), who will be able to control a sufficient number of delegates from the Western and Eastern States to give you the nomination—and they will do it, to save themselves: well-knowing that there is no one but yourself that can poll the votes of the adopted citizens. The Federal office holders here are in favor of Douglas, so that at the Charleston Convention, if Mr. Buchanan should consent to be a candidate, he won't be able to get a single squad from this State.

"If you were once nominated, my God, what a vote you would get, with Seward against you!

"You would carry every Northern State, excepting Massachusetts, Vermont, and possibly Rhode Island. All of the Western States, I am assured, would roll into line again.

"I am stopping at the Springs here for a few days, and having an opportunity of consulting with our friends from different sections of the Union, I thought it advisable to drop you the enclosed, hurriedly scratched together. If I can be of any service to you, let me know it. If you think it advisable to make a push for the delegates from this State, write me, and I will tell you how it can be done to the best of my knowledge and belief. Rudlow, Cassidy and Peter Cagger are the controlling spirits, and either of these if they supposed you were not completely in the hands of Fernando Wood & Co., would be your friend. This, I find, is their impression, though not publicly expressed. Mr. Wood is a very smart man, and is much feared by the politicians, but his misfortune seems to consist in having no one to back him. Had he the strength that these others have in these country districts, he would be our next Governor. But in the country he fails behind, and seems to be very unpopular among the farmers and others. Your best way is to keep clear of all cliques and factions. Side with none of them; and when it is determined who are to be delegates, and also who has control of them, it will then be time enough to become indentified.

Yours truly,
B. DONNELLY.

"To his Excellency, GOV. WISE.
Address me at my store, No. 3 William st., N. Y."

Mr. Donnelly is, I believe, not a member of the Democratic State Committee of New York, and is a person in private life, so far as I know. Strictly in response to his letter I wrote the following reply, (now correctly punctuated,) and intended, as it shows on its face, to be strictly private and confidential, and giving no advice or counsel not called for by my correspondent, and not pertinent as a reply even on points of personal vanity or pretension:

[Here follows the Letter which we have already published.]

The first that I heard of this letter was the fuss and farce and fraud practiced at Albany; and on the 6th inst, (Saturday last) I received from Mr. Donnelly the following:

"NORTH SHORE,
STATEN ISLAND, Aug. 4, '59.

"His Excellency Gov. Wise:

"MY DEAR SIR—Much to my surprise and regret, I find published in to-day's Herald your letter to me of the 18th of last month. When I received the same, I showed it to three or four distinguished and honorable friends, each of whom had the letter in their possession only while reading it; consequently they could have no chance of copying it. After which, I showed the letter to Mr. Cassidy, the able editor of the Albany Argus and Atlas, who, after reading it, wished me to leave the letter with him, so that he might show it to Mr. Dean Richmond, the Chairman of the State Central Committee.—To this I consented for the following reasons: In the first place you will see in my previous letter that I stated that the selecting of the delegates to the Charleston Convention would be done in accordance with the wishes of Messrs. Richmond, Ludlow, Cagger and Cassidy, each of whom, I was informed, was friendly to you, but objected to you on account of the reported influence supposed to be exercised over you by Hon. Fernando Wood. In order to disabuse their minds of this impression, and to secure their influence and friendship, I consented to allow the letter to go out of my hands, not knowing of any more effectual way of accomplishing that object than by showing to them the denial of these falsehoods, than in your own handwriting. Mr. Cassidy expressly promised me that your letter should not be made public; and his prominent position and exalted character, I supposed was a sufficient guaranty that all would be as desired.

"This letter was made public, no doubt, with a view of killing you off. Of this we shall see and hear more hereafter. The Democracy in this part of the country believe that the Giant who was capable of destroying the monster Know Nothingism, is the most competent and suitable person to destroy that monster of all monsters—Abolitionism—which, if not destroyed in 1860, will be master of the field for all time to come.

"The State Committee has done as we expected, and the whole matter lies with the people, of whom, if aroused, I have no fear. So long as the people are right, we need not fear the dishonorable tricksters. Yours, truly, B. DONNELLY."

Now this is all I know about the matter. It is no fault or imprudence of mine which makes the whole public, and thus explaining itself I have no comment to make, nothing to palliate, excuse, or justify. Who needs defence for treachery, and for a gross outrage upon all the confidence and good faith known among men in civilized life, I leave the public to judge. I give Mr. Donnelly's plea, and believe, until the contrary appears, that he is innocent. Whether now it will recoil, we will see. His name was not given, to create the impression, obviously, that I wrote this letter spontaneously to some member of the New York State Committee. I owe it to myself to expose this, as you say, "worse than forgery."

Respectfully,
HENRY A. WISE.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION IN THE AIR—SUPPOSED TO BE A METEOR.—The Troy Budget of Thursday states that about twenty minutes past 7 o'clock that morning, the people of that city were startled by a sudden explosion which shook frame houses, like the heaving of an earthquake, and the cause of which was unseen by any of them. Conjecture was at once busy as to the probable cause of the noise. Some thought that the powder mills at Schaghticoke had again blown up; and remembered that the noise of the last explosion as heard in Troy was just like this. An arrival from Schaghticoke soon showed this surmise to be wrong—all was safe there. Others thought it must be the gun cap works at the head of Congress street: these on inquiry were found to be all safe.—It was probably occasioned by the bursting of a meteor, the light of which was lost in the blaze of the morning sun.

The report was heard at Schaghticoke and throughout that region. John P. Ball, Esq., County Clerk, who lives in Pittstown, heard the report at his house, and in looking up saw in the air a flash and smoke as if from a cannon just fired.

From passengers upon the train from Rutland we gather that the shock to the cars was exceedingly violent, partially raising them from the track—they returning to it with a heavy jar. Whatever it was, the noise was stunning, and the effect was such as to awaken for the moment grave fears. It was the subject of much speculations, and gave rise to a variety of opinions.

I BELIEVE IT SAVED MY LIFE.—Jacob Wooster, of Rush Creek, New Berkeley township says:

"For two years I suffered the Vertigo, Nausea and Headache, attending Dyspepsia, sometimes so severely as to incapacitate me for any effort—at others, to confine me to my bed. My bowels were often so constipated as to oblige me to use the most powerful purgatives to relieve myself. Indeed, I at last found it necessary to use something of the kind constantly. Last fall I commenced taking BOERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS, and found it just what my case required. I connot recommend it too highly, for I believe it saved my life!"

CAUTION!—Beware of imposition. See that the name of Benjamin Page, Jr. & Co., sole proprietors Pittsburgh, Pa., is on the label of every bottle.

TESTIMONIAL.

BOSTON, July 19, 1857.

MESSRS. J. BURNETT & CO.—I cannot refuse to state the salutary effect in my own aggravated case, of your excellent Hair Oil—(Cocoaine.)

For many months my hair has been falling off, until I was fearful of losing it entirely. The skin upon my head became gradually more and more inflamed, so that I could not touch it without pain. This irritated condition I attributed to the use of various advertised hair washes, which I have since been told contain camphene spirit.

By the advice of my physician, to whom you had shown your process of purifying the Oil, I commenced its use the last week in June. The first application allayed the itching and irritation, in three or four days the redness and tenderness disappeared—the hair ceased to fall, and I have now a thick growth of new hair. I trust that others, similarly afflicted, will be induced to try the same remedy.

Yours, very truly,
SUSAN R. POPE.

IF I DIE FIRST.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

If I die first, dear love,
My mournful soul made free,
Shall sit at Heaven's high portal,
To wait and watch for thee—
To wait and watch for thee, love,
And through the deep, dark space,
To peer, with human longings
To see thy radiant face.

Mid all the stars of heaven,
One only shall I see—
The earthstar of my passion,
Half heaven for holding thee—
All heaven for holding thee, love,
And brightest of all the spheres,
By thy sweet smile illumined,
Or hallowed by thy tears.

If I die first, dear love—
I feel that this shall be,
For heaven will not be heaven
Until it's shared with thee—
Until it's cheered with thee, love,
I'll linger at the gate,
Or be thy guardian angel,
To teach thee how to wait.

And when thine hour shall come,
And through the yielding night,
I see thy happy spirit
Upsoaring, robed in light,
Mine shall go forth to meet thee,
And, through the eternal door,
Pass in with thee rejoicing,
Made one forevermore.

Four Bank Clerks

Were at a turkey-raffle on Christmas eve, 1855, in the city of Brooklyn. It was the first time they had ever raffled for "chances." By ten o'clock the turkeys were raffled off, and a supper was given by the saloon-keeper. Supper over, some of the party began to throw dice for quarters, and gradually the whole company joined in the game. They lost and won, roostly in sums from five to twenty-five dollars. Wine flowed freely, and it was Christmas morning before the party broke up, to stagger home with blood-shot eyes and aching heads, carrying away their first bitter lesson in gambling.

New Year's evening there was another raffle, and another supper, and another night with dice, cards and wine—a poor beginning for the new year, for raffles and euchre became now almost a nightly amusement; but "only for the sake of a little amusement," they said.

The bank clerks were generally losers, and a hundred dollars or so lost a night was scarcely thought of. Were their salaries large enough to support such losses? Hitherto they had been young men of unblemished reputation, and for aught friends and employers knew, so far as fair as ever; but alas, a hidden canker had begun to gnaw at the very vitals of their character. Gambling had begun its fatal work. They lost—lost often—lost heavily. Where did the money come from to pay their losses? One said he had drawn a prize in a lottery; another told of receiving a legacy from a dead relative; another—but it is no matter how they accounted for their money—they all lied. And we shall pretty soon see where the money did come from.

One evening one of the bank clerks was not in his accustomed seat. "Wonder what has become of ——," said they. He had lost large sums the night before, and they expected, in hopes of better luck, he would be early on hand to retrieve his fortunes. The game flagged. At length a loud noise at the outside door bespoke an unusual comer, and a policeman was ushered in in search of the absent clerk. He had been found a defaulter for over three thousand dollars, had not been at his post at the bank that day, and was now among the missing. His friends there could give no clue, and conscience smitten, soon after the police made their exit, they speedily dispersed. Bitterly did some of them rue the day which first caught them in the accursed meshes of gambling; aye, and one at least, resolved never, never, to be caught at it again. Alas, he had gone a step too far, and knew not the strength of the fatal habit. Again the party met, and under the false and fatal excuse of not wishing to break it up, he broke his vow. A few more months, and another committed forgery, and was sentenced to Sing Sing. Last fall, a third, a teller in a bank, fled from justice, a heavy defaulter, lost his character and happiness, leaving a young family to mourn his brief and bitter career.

The fourth is saved as by fire. His words would be burning words: "Beware of raffling, dice and cards. Away with the very beginning of gambling. Touch not, taste not, handle not. It is a habit that grows on you with terrible swiftness, and your very soul is gambled away before you think of it."

Singular Ornament.

A brooch worn by the Countess of K——, has recently been the subject of conversation among the eminent company of Polish nobility who are now exiles in Paris. Encircled by twenty brilliants upon a dark blue ground of lapis lazuli, and protected by a glass in front, may be seen—what? A portrait? A lock of hair? No—neither the one nor the other; but only four bent pins wrought together in the form of a star. The history of this singular ornament is contained in the following communication:

The Count K—— was, some years ago, in his own country, suspected of being too much inclined to politics, and was consequently one night, without examination or further inquiry, torn from the bosom of his family by police officers, conveyed to a fortress in a distant part of the country, and thrown into a damp, dark dungeon. Days, weeks, months passed away, without his being brought to trial. The unhappy man saw himself robbed of every succor. In the stillness of death, and the darkness of the grave he felt not only his strength failing him but also his mind wandering. An unspeakable anguish took hold upon him. He, who feared not to appear before his judges, now trembled before himself. Conscious of his danger, he endeavored to find something to relieve himself from the double misery of idleness and loneliness, and thus preserve him from a terrible insanity.

Four pins, which accidentally happened to be in his coat, had fortunately escaped the notice of his jailor. These were to be the means of deliverance to his spirit. He threw the pins upon the earth—which alone was the floor of his gloomy dungeon—and then employed himself in seeking for them in the darkness. When after a tiresome search he succeeded in finding them, he threw them down anew; and so, again and again, did he renew his voluntary task. All the day long, sitting, lying or kneeling, he groped about with his hands until he had found the pins which he had intentionally scattered. This fearful yet beneficial recreation continued for six years. Then, at last, a great political event opened suddenly the doors of his prison. The Count had just scattered his pins but he would not leave his cell without taking with him the little instruments of his own preservation from despair and madness. He soon found them, for now the clear bright light of day beamed in through the doorway of his dungeon. As the Count related this sad story to the Countess, she seized the pins with holy eagerness. These crooked yellow brass pins, which, during fearful years, had been scattered and gathered alternately, were become to her as precious relics; and now, set in a frame of brilliants, worth £400, as a treasure of much greater value, she wears them on her bosom.—Court Journal.

HOW THEY PREDICT THE WEATHER AT THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTE.—Professor Henry, at the Scientific Association, gave an account of the method pursued each day at the Smithsonian Institute to record and predict the weather. They have a map of the U. S. hung upon a board, with pins stuck through at the points where the observers of the Institute are stationed. The Institute daily reports by telegraph from many of these points. Each morning an assistant hangs a cord on the pins to indicate the state of the weather—black if raining, green if snowing, brown if cloudy, and white if fair. All storms travel east, and thus they are enabled to predict with great certainty the condition of the weather 12 hours in advance.

There was a good shipping demand for wheat today, and all that could be found at yesterday's quotations, was quickly taken. Sales were made of 5,000 bushels, mostly uninspected, called extra No. 1 at 60c. The market closed with more firmness, holders asking 60c. The continued lightness of receipts unmistakeably indicates that farmers are again disposed to try the boarding experiment to bring up prices. If there is any truth in the old proverb about honesty, this is certainly bad policy for such of them as are in debt, at least. Nothing of any account done in flour. Good country extra is held at $4. Oats were not so firm, and sold quite moderate.

CHICAGO, AUGUST 16.—Receipts: 2,495 bbls flour, 35,750 bus wheat, 30,911 bus corn, 11,750 bus oats, 122 bus barley. Shipments: 60 bbls flour, 11,000 bushels wheat.

The demand for spring wheat continued today as active as yesterday, and nearly all previous prices fully maintained. Winter wheat, however, was duller, and declined 2@3c—except No. 2 red which maintained yesterday's figures. About 20,000 bushels of all red, yesterday's figures. About 20,000 bushels of all grades changed hands at $1,01 for extra white delivered; 98c for No. 2 white in store; 88@90c for No. 1 red delivered; 80c for No. 2 red in store; 74@75c for No. 3 in store; 71@76c for No. 2 red in store; 74@75c for No. 3 spring in store, and 67@72c for No. 2 in store—closing the first. Flour is very dull, with sales of choice spring extras at $4,00. Corn advanced 1½c, under a good demand, with sales of about 50,000 bushels, at 61½c, delivered, and 61½c for No. 1 in store; and 61½ for Canal afloat; 61@62c for No. 2. Oats 1½@2c lower, closing quiet but firm. Sales 5½@56c for No. 2 in store—closing quiet but firm. Sales 5,000@6,000 for do; 7,000@8,000 for mess; 8,000@11,000 for repacked Chi; 12,000@13,00 for extras. Beef hams quiet at 15@18.

BALTIMORE—Dull.

CINCINNATI, August 17.—Flour: Dull; sales 202 packages at 4@4¼ for shoulders; 5@5¼ for hams.

LARD—Steady at 6@6½ for No 1 prime to western. BUTTER—Firm; 10@12½ for Ohio, 20@22 for state. CHEESE—Scarce and firm at 9@12.

BUFFALO MARKET.

BUFFALO, August 17—5 P. M.

FLOUR—In better demand and market 12½c lower; sales 1,600 bbls at $4,25@4,50 for regular to good extra State; 4,50@4,75 for fair to choice extra Michigan, Indiana and Ohio; 5,00@5,25 for double extras.

WHEAT—Red and white winter scarce and firmer; spring steady; sales 20,000 bus No. 1 new Chi spring to arrive next week at 50c; old standard Chi spring at 60; 7,000 for amber and red Ohio at 1,05@1,06; 5,000 bus winter Ohio and Indiana at 1,06.

CORN—Quiet, but firm; sales 2,000 No. 1 Ill from store at 61½c.

Other grains quiet.

WHISKEY—Steady; sales 100 bbls.

LAKE FREIGHTS—5,000 bbls flour, 22,000 bus wheat, 17,000 bus corn.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

—TO—

MILLWRIGHTS AND OWNERS.

The Excelsior Water Wheel Co.

ARE MANUFACTURING A NEW KIND of Water Wheel, patented 11th May, and 14th July, 1858, by Thomas Mitchell, of Vermont, which involves an entirely new principle of obtaining power, and of controlling the same, by which we obtain a greater quantity and power than is afforded by any other wheel now in use. Some of the advantages of this wheel are as follows:

1st. We obtain the ENTIRE WEIGHT of the water, and have the advantage of the full head and fall, from the water's surface to the bottom of the wheel.

2d. It surpasses all other wheels in velocity and power.

3d. It is perfectly under the control of the workmen, either when used to drive a large or small amount of machinery, as the strength of the wheel is not diminished by reducing its motion, since it depends upon the WEIGHT of the column of water passing the wheel, which always remains about the same.

4th. If occupies less space than any other wheel—is placed inside the flume, and the SUCTION of the water, and is never affected by frost.

5th. The wheel is very durable, being made of iron, and can be placed in its only place and attached to saw Mills, Grist Mills, and machinery of all kinds, with great expense than any other wheel. The style of the wheel is such that the expense of gearing up is avoided for nearly all purposes.

From the above advantages above stated, we are ready to warrant the Wheel to possess a power equal to the following figures, for each foot fall of water:

6 inch wheel,		92.100 horse-power
10½	"	90.100 "
12	"	90.100 "
13½	"	1.00.100 "
15	"	1.30.100 "
16½	"	1.57.100 "
18	"	2.15.100 "
20	"	2.50.100 "
22	"	2.86.100 "
24	"	3.53.100 "
26	"	4.20.100 "
28	"	5.25.100 "
30	"	6.30.100 "
36	"	8.81.100 "

Wheels of the above sizes can make 400 to 1000 revolutions per minute, which is sold, are complete with gate, pully and shaft, so that the purchaser has only to put them in the flume, which can be done with less expense than any other wheel.

The Company have competent workmen, who will put them in any part of the country in a manner, at reasonable rates. The Wheels can be afforded at a less price than any of the kinds now in use.

W. B. STURGESS, Sec'y, Troy, N. Y.

CERTIFICATES.

MIDDLETOWN, Ct., Dec. 1, 1858.

DEAR SIR—In answer to your favor asking my opinion of the Fairchild Patent Water Wheel that you put into my factory for me, I take great pleasure in stating that it has exceeded my expectation. I took out the old wheel, which was overshot, by 9 feet Buckets, and replaced it with one of "Fairchild's Patent" 16 inch Wheels, and I give more power with no greater amount of water, and the motion is as steady as that of a steam engine. It has also the advantage of being entirely under control.

It operates under 9 feet head and fall, and carries with equal regularity and steadiness a greater or less amount of machinery as the case is necessary for the manufacturing of fire arms," whereas an increase of machinery upon my old Wheels would materially lessen the head and fall.

It is without doubt the best Wheel I have ever used, and I can recommend it to Water Wheels generally, over a period of 25 years. Any one interested in Water Wheels will be convinced of its superiority, (however sceptical they may be) by a couple of calls at my factory and see its performance.

I am, yours, respectfully,

EDWARD SAVAGE.

Mr. Savage writes me again under date of Jan. 6th, 1859. The Wheel continues to perform entirely well. I am more and more pleased with it. It has not caused us a moment's delay since you were here.

SHELDON, Franklin Co., Vt., June 29, 1858.

DEAR SIR—I have one of Mr. Fairchild's wheels in operation at my Woolen Factory, which I can recommend to the public with perfect confidence, as possessing all the advantages which are claimed by it. The wheel which I am using is twelve inches in diameter. It gives more power, and runs more steadily than the Jonval wheel in use previously, which it superseded, requiring less water under the same head and fall.

H. CARLISLE.

Many other testimonials from heavy eastern manufactories may be seen at our office, where the public are invited to call and examine this wheel, and where they will at all times be on hand to supply the demand. The HIGH wheel is now running the Planing Mill and other machinery necessary for the manufacturing Sash, Doors and Blinds, at the factory of M. S. Kipp, Esq., (State Dam) Joliet, Ill., where any and all are invited to call and examine a wheel propelling 700 revolutions per minute. For further particulars please address

JOHN D. CAMPBELL, Gen'l Supt.

CITY OF BUFFALO, A. D. PERRIN, Commr., and WESTERN METROPOLIS, W. T. PEASE, Commr., Run an Evening Line between Cleveland and Buffalo.

One of the above magnificent boats will leave the C. & C. Railroad Dock, Cleveland, every evening (Sundays excepted) at 6 o'clock, on the arrival of the trains from the South and West, making direct connection in the morning for the morning trains on the New York Central and Buffalo, New York & Erie R. R., for Niagara Falls, Rochester, Syracuse, Rome, Utica, Albany, Cornwall, Piermont, Jersey City, New York and Boston.

It is useless to speak eulogistically of the above boats, being known to the traveling public as the favorite Passenger Boats between Cleveland and Buffalo.

Those intending a short trip to New York or any point east of it, will find this the most desirable route that could be obtained.

Tickets can be had at the ticket office in the West and at the Company's office under the Massasoit House, Cleveland, and Depot, Sandusky street.

CHICAGO AND THE EAST.

PASS AS LOW AS ANY OTHER ROUTE.

☞ Passengers wishing to go by this desirable and direct Route, should call at the Ticket Office, Kinzie street, corner of Lake, in the Sherman House, and secure their tickets. Avoiding the annoyance of rechecking baggage as by other routes.

Trains leave the depot on VAN BUREN ST., daily, as follows:

8:00 A. M., Morning Mail and Express.
8:00 P. M., Night Express.

CHECKING BAGGAGE THROUGH

To Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New York. Connecting directly with trains on the great Pennsylvania Central Railroad, to all Eastern cities. Also, with the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Chicago Road, Dunkirk, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, via New York Central and New York and Erie Railroads to New York and Boston.

Persons going East will find this route by far the most desirable, both from the advantage in point of distance, and the avoiding of the many changes through which the route pass, as well as the less frequent changes of cars, thus lessening the nuisance of re-checking baggage, followed by other routes.

Facilities for the transportation of Freight and Live Stock to the Eastern cities, not equaled by any route to any other route, and with equal dispatch.

Tickets for sale at all the principal ticket offices in the West, and at the Company's office, No. 20 Dearborn St., opposite the Tremont House, Chicago, and at the Union Ticket office, No. 22 East Water St., Milwaukee.

SECURED BY RECENT LETTERS PATENT.

THE ADVENT OF THIS NEW, MOST useful and incomparable Machine is destined to create a great sensation throughout the world upon the subject of CHEAP SEWING MACHINES.

We confidently assert and can conclusively prove, by a personal demonstration, that this Machine embraces in its construction the best combination of MERITS, DURABILITY, SIMPLICITY and SPEED ever before now known to the public, regardless of price! With an eye quick to detect the deficiences and improvements of other machines, Mr. Moore has brought to requisite perfection, after a long and laborious examination of this beautiful piece of machinery, at once startling the public with a practical and reliable Machine in the country, and the preferable to any Machine now before sold. It sews directly from two spools, (as bought at the store, without re-winding,) one above the Machine, and one underneath, and passes the two threads together with a perfect and good stitch by hand or machinery. It cannot break, though it is liable to ravel, and will not ravel, and the Machine possesses the only self-adjusting device on any goods, thereby making it easy, under all circumstances, for the operator to regulate the tension. The machinery for feeding the cloth is unlike any others, and is without doubt, the best contrivance for the purpose, combining as it does, so perfect a feed with most other Machines, is entirely regarded in this. Such proper care and precaution has been taken in the construction of this machine in completion, and made to every respect perfect and durable. Unlike other Machines, there is no danger in running it backward by oil, as none is used on any part of the Machine. It is also made large enough for every description of work, from fine cambric to heavy cloth, from the finest length by four in length, between the needle and end of the Machine. In short, as regard to its construction, it has got equal in the company; all the movements being positive, and the friction light, there is not the slightest necessity of its getting out of order. It stands entirely upon its own merits, and needs no better reference than its own good works to convince all who see it, that it is the most valuable and humanitary invention of the age.

It is our intention to sell a small portion of the factory to parties who can appreciate a profitable and fair basis. As a safe and highly remunerative investment, for the capitalist, the favorable arrangements can be made for the manufacture of these Machines, and the largest scale in terms of territory, commend the enterprise to the attention of all who wish to make money rapidly on a small capital. We will send a sample Machine, securely boxed by express or otherwise, to any responsible person for examination. Every Machine is warranted. Send for a descriptive circular giving full particulars.
